

NANOWS 2022

Aveiro, Portugal
11-12 July 2022

Dear CA18234ers,

It is our pleasure to announce the NANOWS 2022 meeting on the Achievements and Challenges of Multiscale Modelling of Nanocrystals for Efficient Water Splitting, to be held in Aveiro, Portugal, in July 11-12, 2022. This meeting will be a “face to face” event.

The goal of this meeting, organized within the framework of COST Action CA18234 (<https://comp-h2o-split.eu/>), is to bring together those interested in the:

- development of multiscale studies targeting the understanding of the photocatalytic water splitting with nanocrystals from abundant elements
- discussion of advances and difficulties in this field of research
- identification of new challenges
- shaping of future directions of COST Action CA18234.
